President Message by: Jake Snyman

It seems like just yesterday that we were all unwrapping Christmas presents and celebrating the onset of the New Year. February has already almost rolled on by and 2017 has kicked off with a flourish. With it, so have many other things.

Firstly, A huge congratulations to our Lonestar Chapter Team for winning the Team Chapter competition at the GCSAA Golf Championships. Way to go Texas boys for bringing home the winning chapter honors and an awesome chapter prize in the form of a check for $1000 made out to the LSGCSA. Yes, I actually still have the very large fake check, after carrying it back with me on the plane from Orlando GIS 2017. Sean Westacott, a member of the winning team, was witnessed parading it at the Lonestar reception. So if you did not get to see it, we will have it displayed at our first Lonestar event of the year at Ridgewood Country Club who will be hosting the Texas Cup in May this year.

Secondly, GIS 2017 in Orlando was a resounding success for the Lonestar state. Our very own Texan in the form of Johnny Walker got voted onto the Board of Directors for the GCSAA during the annual elections. A hearty congratulations to Johnny and we know he will serve us all well. Also if you did make it the "The Pub" for our annual Lonestar Reception, thank-you to all who came and supported us. We appreciate all of you. I personally had the pleasure of seeing and meeting superintendents and industry professionals from all four corners of the state and we had representatives from all of our local Texas Chapters. Also a huge thank-you needs to go out to Marian Takushi our chapter Executive Director who seems to be able to organize and pull off these outstanding events year after year. They just seem to be getting better. Cannot wait for the next one in San Antonio 2018!!!

Finally, I would like to extend a very sincere thank-you to our outgoing president of the LSGCSA, Terry Gill. He has stepped in, served and carried the baton of President of the Lonestar Chapter for more years than he would have like. You have been a rock star for the chapter. Terry has truly has been a great guy to get to know and work with. Thank-you Terry for your dedication and service to our industry and Lonestar chapter.

Without too much more to say, I would like wish everyone a fantastic 2017. Summer seems to have arrived early for some so lets all make the most of it and get our golf courses as good as they can be. Whether you are growing bent and bluegrass in Amarillo, or Bermuda in Corpus Christi and Harlingen, we look forward to seeing you supporting your state chapter at our next event in May.

God Bless, take care and have a great day.

Stieler claims second GCSAA golf championship

Slow and steady won the race for Michael Stieler, CGCS.

On a day when many of the contenders for the GCSAA National Championship experienced the highs and lows of tournament golf, the superintendent at Spring Creek G&CC in Ripon, Calif., kept his cool and persevered, winning his second tournament title with a second-round 1-over-par 73 which wrapped up a two-day total of 2-over-par 146. That was good for a two-shot cushion over runner-up Tim Scott, CGCS, from Stony Creek GC in Oak Lawn, Ill.

Stieler, who previously won the GCSAA National Championship in 2012, started the second day of the event three shots off the pace set by three-time winner Seth Strickland from Miami (Fla.) Shores CC. And at the turn, Stieler was still two shots back, with several other competitors pushing for that top spot, including 2015 champion Matt Cowan from the Fazio Canyons Course at Barton Creek in Austin, Texas, and David Noto from Mossy Creek GC in Cleveland, Ga.

But while Strickland, Cowan and Noto all ran into trouble on the back nine, Stieler was en route to what was a steady even-par 36 on the back side. He did encounter his fair share of drama down the stretch, but a few par saves and a few near-miss birdies that ended up as tap-in pars proved more than enough to earn Stieler the title.

Cowan and Strickland both finished in a tie for third at 6-over-par 150 following final-round scores of 76 and 80, respectively. Finishing tied for fifth were Tanner Chrastacky from Bentwater Yacht and Country Club in Montgomery, Texas, and defending champion Shawn Westacott from Meridoe GC in Carrollton, Texas. Winning the senior division of the national championship was Charles Costello from Phoenix (Ariz.) CC.

In the chapter team competition, the Lone Star GCSA earned the overall title in the gross division, while the Mississippi Valley GCSA came home in the top spot in the net division.

The Toro Co., the event's sponsor for the past 23 years, also gave away a new Workman GTX in a raffle for all 460 participants who took part in some aspect of this year's GCSAA National Championship and Golf Classic. The winner was Greg Brooking, CGCS, the general manager and superintendent at Duncan Park GC in Natchez, Miss.

Government Relations Updates: By: Ken GorzyckiGCSAA State BMP Template - Now Available

GCSAA has unveiled their new BMP template for states to develop their own BMP Guide for Golf Courses in their states.

Texas is in the process of developing a steering committee and task force to draft and review a BMP template for the state.

Please contact Marian if you have an interest in being a part of this important initiative for our state.

Press Release from GCSAA on February 14, 2017:

BMP Planning Guide and Template offered by Golf Course Superintendents Association of America

Golf industry groups, including the USGA and PGA Tour, collaborate to proactively demonstrate golf course superintendents' environmental stewardship

Lawrence, Kan. (Feb. 14, 2017) — A comprehensive national planning guide and template for best management practices (BMPs) in golf course management that states can easily adapt to their needs is now available online through the Golf Course Superintendents Association of America (GCSAA). The BMP program is funded through the Environmental Institute for Golf (EIFG), the philanthropic arm of GCSAA.

The BMP Planning Guide and Template is a big step toward the initiative to have golf courses in all 50 states adopt science-based agronomic practices that support proactive environmental stewardship of the land. The template, covering key areas such as nutrient use, drought and water management, integrated pest management and others, is available at www.gcsaa.org/bmp.

"It is vital to the long-term success of this profession that we proactively work with legislators, regulators and consumers to build full trust for superintendents and the work they do to provide quality playing surfaces while protecting the environment," said Rhett Evans, GCSAA CEO.

The planning guide is generously funded and supported by the U.S. Golf Association (USGA), which began funding turfgrass research in 1920. The USGA has also invested generally to ensure sustainability for the game.

"We are committed to doing all we can to help bring best management practices into play across every state and at every golf course," said Mike Davis, executive director and CEO of the USGA.

GCSAA-affiliated chapters in Florida, Georgia, Michigan, New York, Oregon and Virginia already provide successful examples of the value of adopting BMPs. And nine more affiliated chapters from other states have been awarded grants to get started, through funding from the PGA Tour.

One of those chapters is the Connecticut Association of Golf Course Superintendents, whose effort is being spearheaded by Pete Gorman, the golf course superintendent at Pine Orchard Yacht and Country Club in Branford, Conn., and the secretary-treasurer of the Connecticut association.

"We want Connecticut to be at the forefront of the BMP project," said Gorman, whose state includes 179 golf courses. "We want to be a resource for other states and other industries going forward. GCSAA is taking the lead in helping all of us be leaders in best management practices, such as water conservation and all environmental topics. It's a commitment to our profession."

The BMP Planning Guide and Template was initiated by GCSAA leaders working with professional turfgrass and horticultural scientists at the University of Florida and further vetted through a task group consisting of superintendents, university scientists, environmental professionals, golf course architects and other industry representatives.

Viera East Golf Club Gets No-Till TifEagle Renovation. Bravo!

"We looked at Champion, as well as the leading paspalums, and couldn't believe how puffy they all were. Honestly, I can't figure out how anybody keeps up with them. In my opinion, TifEagle is a far superior grass for golf course greens."

Timothy A. Melloh, PGA
 General Manager/COO
 Viera East Golf Club, Viera FL

You'll find TifEagle Bermudagrass on the picturesque 18-hole championship golf course at Viera East Golf Club in Viera FL. Located just south of Cocoa Beach and in close proximity to the Atlantic Ocean and the Indian and Banana Rivers, this Joe Lee design features lush, rolling fairways, crystal clear lakes, spectacular white sand bunkers, and swaying palm trees. Thirty-one-year veteran Tim Melloh (PGA), General Manager and COO, is responsible for this prestigious course in the heart of an upscale Community Development District. It was Tim who made the decision to go with TifEagle. "When I was the Director of Golf at FSU, we replaced our old 1960's TifGreen 328 with TifEagle. We redesigned all of our bunkers, tees and greens. We basically just blew everything up and started over. So when I came here I already had 11 years of experience with TifEagle and talked the Board into replacing our Emerald Dwarf. It was horrible. We did a no-till TifEagle conversion and were open for play in 54 days." Take a lesson from Tim Melloh. Whether you're renovating your existing greens or planning a brand new facility, insist on the best. Specify certified TifEagle Bermudagrass by name. You can sod it, sprig it or even no-till it under the right conditions - just like Tim. For more information and a list of TifEagle growers, visit us at www.tifeagle.com. Or call 706 552-4525.

Help tell the EPA to keep Pyrethroids Around

From: Jeff Smith—Solutions Store

There is a lot of change going on at the EPA and it is not good for the stability of our business. The pyrethroid chemical class is currently under review and there is the potential that they could be banned or severely limited. This class includes all the most common products, bifenthrin, cypermethrin, permethrin, etc. If they eliminate them it will have profound negative effects on our business.

<https://www.votervoice.net/PWG/campaigns/48708/respond>

I want to ask everyone submit a request to keep pyrethroids around. Use the link above as an easy way to have your voice be heard.

Thank you,

Jeff Smith, Solutions Store

UPGRADE TO TIFSPORT CHAMPIONSHIP-QUALITY BERMUDAGRASS

Get a leg up on your competition. Upgrade to certified TifSport Bermudagrass like the redesigned Trump National Golf Club, Jupiter, FL. TifSport has great color. It recovers very rapidly from heavy traffic, injury and droughts. It has a finer texture than Tifway 419 and most other bermudagrass varieties. It's extremely cold tolerant, and its upright leaf blade orientation and stiffness mean better ball lies in cut fairways and roughs. It also has a pleasing, uniform appearance, even during dormancy. Players love the way it plays, and you and your crew will appreciate how easy it is to manage. TifSport. It's ideal for fairways, roughs and tees. For more info and a list of quality licensed TifSport growers visit our website at www.tifSPORT.com or call 706 552-4525.
